CENTROPOLIS HARROW WORKS BOUGHT BY NEW FIRM,

WORK FOR THOUSANDS OF MEN.

AIR BRAKES WILL BE MANUFACT-URED BY WHOLESALE.

4 Manufacturing and a Building Company Also Incorporated Yesterday, Which Shows How the Prosperity Wind Is Blowing.

The MacLaughlin Automatic Air Brake Company has bought the plant of the old Kansas City Rotary Harrow works at Centropolis, and will use it as its principal factory for the manufacture of the Mac-Laughlin air brake.

"We have shipped four carloads of machinery to the plant and will have three more carloads in place next week," said President W. G. MacLaughlin, of the company, yesterday. "We are working now, but the plant is turning out only such machinery as we will need and which we can manufacture ourselves. Everything will be in readiness to begin turning out air brakes next week, and within sixty days we will have a capacity of 2,500 air brakes a day."

Mr. MacLaughlin says the company will either buy or build a large foundry near its plant at once. "The federal laws require the equipment of all passenger and freight cars with brakes before January 1, 1899," said Mr. MacLaughlin, "This means that nearly 1,000,000 power brakes must be supplied within the next fifteen months, and I believe that the full capacity of our plant at Centropolis will be taxed to meet the demand. It will require the employment of 5,000 men to run the plant to its fullest capacity."

During the next few months the company will give its attention entirely to the air brake business, owing to the comparatively short time remaining to enable the atively short time remaining to enable the railroads to meet the requirements of the federal laws. The MacLaughlin patents, however, include eight other devices for use in railroad and street railway equipment, all of which will be manufactured at the Kansas City plant.

Among the Kansas Cityans interested in the company are: A. S. Flersheim, Joseph Lorie, G. B. Lichtenberg, Walton H. Holmes, C. F. Holmes, J. W. Martin, Fred Wild, W. L. Griggs, William Clow. Fred Gerber, Colonel J. W. Moore, R. M. Lehew, William Mackay, B. F. Qualtrough, V. W. Floweree, E. C. Smith, Harry Holdsworth, John W. Williams, and several railway officials. General W. W. Lowe and Lee S. Estelle, of Omaha, are officers of the company. and Lee S. Estelle, of Omaha, are officers of the company.

The MacLaughlin brake was invented by W. G. MacLaughlin, the president of the company. It dispenses with the use of the triple valve used by all other air brake manufacturers, who are compelled to pay a royalty to the Westinghouse company for its use. The past year has been spent in the introduction of the brake and perfecting the organization of the company.

"Now we are ready to begin work in carnest," said Mr. MacLaughlin, "and are assured of all the orders we will be able to fill. It will doubtless be a good thing for Kansas City, but we have come here because Kansas City is a good place for us. There was no sentiment in the selection of our location."

WILL ADD ANOTHER STORY.

Hotel Sayoy to Be Materially En larged Before Snow Begins o Fly.

Manager Frank P. Ewins, of the Hotel Savoy, has just returned from the East, where he concluded arrangements with the owners of the building occupied by the hotel for some important additions and many alterations. The plans contemplate radical changes in the arrangement of the office. The elevator will be in the rear of the hall instead of the front, and one more story will be added to the building. The work of making the alterations will begin as soon as the fall festivities are over, and will be completed in advance of cold weather.

The owners of the hotel property wanted to buy the vacant lot west of the building to erect an addition, but the owners doubled the price when a purchase was almost completed, and the deal has fallen through. The extra story will be added in its place, Manager Frank P. Ewins, of the Hotel

NO SLEEP FOR THREE MONTHS. Cause of Sleeplessness That Car Be Readily Overcome.

Mr. William Handschu, of Fifty-sixth street, Cotton Alley, Pittsburg, Pa., ex-presses himself as follows regarding the new remedy for that common and obstinate disease, piles: "I take pleasure in stating that I was so afflicted with piles that for three months I got no regular sleep; I became completely prostrated, the doctors did me no good; my brother told me of the new remedy for piles, the Pyramid Pile Cure: I purchased from my druggist three 50 cent bottles, and they completely cured me. I am once more at my work and but for this excellent medicine I should be on my back. I take great pleasure in writing this letter because so many people are sufferers from this trouble who like myself did not know where to look for a permanent, reliable, safe cure."

Experience with the Pyramid Pile Cure in the past three years has demonstrated to the medical profession, as well as to thousands of sufferers from piles, that it is the safest and most effectual cure ever offered to the public, containing no opiates or poisons of any kind, painless and convenient to handle tand being sold by druggists at 30 cents and 31 per box, is within the reach of every sufferer.

Very frequently two or three boxes have had not yielded to other remedies for

There is scarcely a disease more aggra-There is scarcely a disease more aggravating and obstinate to cure than the various forms of piles and it is a common practice to use obstinate to salves and stindar preparations containing dangerous poisons to remove the trouble. The Pyramid has superseded all of these ineffectual remedies and no one suffering with any rectal trouble makes any mistake in giving the Pyramid a trial.

If in doubt as to the nature of your trouble send to the Pyramid Drug Co., Albion, Mich., for a valuable little book on piles, describing all forms of the disease and describing the method of cure.

Any druggist can furnish the Pyramid Pile Cure, as it is the best known and most popular remedy for piles, and if you ask blin he can doubtless refer you to many people in your vicinity who have been cured completely by it.

MUSIC AND THE DRAMA. 000000000000000000000000000000

"Miss Francis of Yale," which is now running at the Globe theater, London, England, is to be presented at the Coates Monday night by the American organiza-tion embracing Mr. Etienne Girardot (his first appearance in Kansas City), the actor who created "Charley's Aunt" in London and New York. Here is the theme: A young man at Yale has earned the sohri uet of Miss Francis by his clever female impersonations in theatricals. A collusion of events suggests to those about him that of events suggests to those about him that he is actually a woman, masquerading as a man. Though he is all unconscious of their suspicions, they treat him in accordance with what they think. Fancy the possibilities for fun.

"Miss Francis of Yale" is from the pen of a native playwright, Mr. Michael Morton, a New York litterateur. It is in three acts and purely American in locality and characterization. The company is said to be one of the best possible to gather together for the illustration of the farcical side of life. The cast includes Etienne Girardot, Owen Westford, Raymond Capp, George F. Farren, Monte Donico, Gertrude Homan, Sarah McVicker, Lavinia Shannon and Idalene Cotton. The sale of seats will open this morning.

"A Cavaller of France," which Mr. Louis James will present next week at the Grand, in spite of a similarity of title, is not in any respect an infringement upon Stanley J. Weyman's novel. "A Gentleman of France." The play was written by Espy Williams, who owns the dramatic rights in this country for Mr. Weyman's novel, "The Man in Black," and while the time is the same and many of the historical personages, such as the king, Baron Rosny and others, occur in both play and novel, the similarity is said to end there. Mr. Williams claims that no author can claim absolute right to an historical personage and that he is as much entitled to put them in his play as was the novelist to use them in his novel. This play will be handsomely staged and will be presented Sunday afternoon and Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Thursday and Friday nights and Thursday matinee, "Spartacus;" Saturday matinee, "Romeo and Juliet," and Saturday night, "Julius Caesar."

"The Hired Girl" is attracting large audiences at the Grand and is being received with evident delight. The usual mid-week matince will be given this afternoon.

matinee will be given this afternoon.

This is from Hillary Bell, the critic of the New York Press: "In our opinion Sol Smith Russell is one of the best of American comedians, having a nice sense of pathos joined to unaffected humor, and his whole performance guided by discretion. Our audiences do not agree with these views, but have still denied to Mr. Russell the applause that he wins in the West, which, so far as accurate dramatic judgment goes, seems to have greater intelligence than the metropolis, that likes nothing so well as music comedy and farce. In this misfortune Sol Smith Rusell finds himself in good company. New York would not support Edwin Booth, Joseph Jefferson, Lawrence Barrett, Clara Morris. Fanny Davenport or Nat C. Goodwin. What we want in this town is high kicking and low art, and if Mr. Russell's excellent quality can educate our audiences beyond these primitive necessities he may be worthily congratulated."

Responsive.

There was at least one responsive hearer in the crowded little church in a Southern village, and it happened this way:

Guests had arrived unexpectedly at the country parsonage on Sunday morning.

The weekly supply of butter had run short, so the hospitable host dispatched old Joe, the colored man, to his neighbor, Mr. Paul, whose dairy always boasted a surplus. The parson proceeded to church with his well prepared sermon on some of the best sayings of the great apostle, and was well under way with it, when old Joe, returning empty handed, concluded he would quietly slip in and hear his master preach. Just as he entered the preacher leaned over the pulpit, stretched forth his hand with a most impressive interrogation in voice and manner and called out: "And what did Paul say?" Distinctly sounded through the church old Joe's reply: "He say," masser, he ain't going to let you have no more butter till you pay for dat last you got,"

Mrs. Josie Way, a large woman, probably 45 years old, who had been fined in a lower court for killing a pug dog belonging to Mrs. R. S. McCarthy, wife of a newspaper artist, had taken an appeal to the criminal court and was promptly on hand yester-day to defend herself. The McCarthys and day to defend herself. The McCarthys and the Ways lived in adjoining rooms on the fifth floor of the Acoma building. Mrs. McCarthy owned a pug dog that never disturbed Mrs. Way until a feeling of coldness sprang up between the two families. Then one night the dog wandered into the hallway, and Mrs. Way selzed it and threw it down the light shaft. When she took the stand she began to tell the jury how the dog has disturbed her slumbers and what a nulsance a dog was, anyway, but the judge stopped her with:

"Hold on, Mrs. Way. You must not make a speech to the jury. All you have got to do is to answer the question, 'Did you throw the dog down the light shaft?"

"I did throw it out, your honor, but—"

"That will do. The jury will determine whether you were guilty of cruelty to animals."

"Red" Whitman, a woman-beating North end tough, was charged with maltreating two women. They were of the sort that wear cowboy hats and fluffy hair, and were present to testify in favor of Whitman. The first witness against the defendant was a business man, who told the story of seeing Whitman beat the two women. When he was through, Judge Wofford said he did not care to hear any further testimeny in the case, and fined Whitman $25 and costs. Whitman turned pale, and his lawyer was on his feet in an instant, expostulating with the judge.

"We have some witnesses, your honor—" he began.

Michael Casey Has It, and He Affirms That He Never Saw Ireland.

H. W. Williams, colored, was yesterday arrested on complaint of B. Davis, another olored man, and taken before Justice Krueger to answer to a charge of stealing a coat. Williams stoutly, protested his innocence. The coat he was wearing was identified by Davis as the one that had been stolen. Williams claimed that he bought the coat from Mike Casey and paid the sum of $2$ for it. After considerable discussion Williams, the prosecuted, turned prosecutor and swore to a complaint for the arrest of Casey. Casey was brought into court and entered a plea of not guilty in a rich Irish brogue. Justice Krueger questioned Casey a little as to his habits and where he spent his time.

"And hit is who Oi am, is it?" answered Casey. "Sure, and Oi was bawned and raised in Randolph, Mo., and Oi am a respectable, law-abidin' citizen."

"You must have gone back to Ireland to live, Mike," said the justice, as he ordered both Casey, and his prosecuting witness committed to jail. Casey protested that his name, his brogue and he himself were Missouri products. The question as to which stole the coat will be ferreted out to-morrow afternoon. #### DAMAGE SUITS.

Next to Divorce Cases, They Lead the List for the September Term of Court.

In the closing week of service for the September term of the circuit court the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, as Metropolitan Street Railway Company, as usual, is coming in for its share of the damage suits filed. Next to the applicants for relief from distressing marital bonds, the biggest proportion of suits filed is by persons who claim to have been injured on or by the street cars of this city.

Emma E. Nichols wants $5,000 from the Metropolitan road because, she alleges, a gripman on the green line started a car while she was alighting at Eighth and Locust last August and threw her violently to the ground, lacerating her face, bruising her head and wrenching her back. She says she was in agony for weeks afterward. The widow of the late Charles Nelson, Mrs. Valedia O. Nelson, says in her petition that her husband was thrown against the front end of a grip car at the western terminus of the Ninth street line, through the negligence of the company's servants; that his left leg was so badly bruised as to cause blood poisoning, from the effects of which he died fourteen days later. She asks $10,000.

The amount of insurance involved in the several suits is $5.416. THE FASHIONABLE WORLD.

Pleasantly Entertained at the Berr heimer Fall Millinery Opening Yesterday. Bernheimers' Fall Millinery opening, an event which has come to be eagerly an-ticipated in the fashionable world, was inaugurated yesterday in a manner that far augurated yesterday in a manner that far surpasses all previous millinery displays. Throngs of delighted women, leaders in all that pertains to dress, filled the spacious department throughout the day. Beautiful decorations, for which the firm is noted, served as a background for hundreds of stunning creations from the great Paris houses, and for the equally chic and altogether charming products of the firm's own workrooms.

houses, and for the equally chic and altogether charming products of the firm's own workrooms.

Two-thirds of the large second floor, over 6,000 feet of floor space, is thus filled with the most exquisite fancies that ever graced a woman's head or emanated from the brain of an artist.

From this great gathering of the latest and rarest in millinery, it is plain that the black velvet hat is to be the hat par excelence of the winter. It may be "Gainsborough," "Duchesse" or "American Beauty," but is heavy with rich plumes or wings or birds, or all three. Combinations of black and white, black and gray, or black, with some of the new shades introduced, are extremely stylish. Then there are marvelous creations in russet green, castor gray, royal blue or nickle silver. But why attempt to particularize among such a bewildering variety of works of art, no two of which are alike?

Every purse and every taste may here be satisfied, and even the children are abundantly provided for in a manner to delight the mast doting of mammas.

Astonishingly beautiful and artistic are the lower grades of hats, ranging in price from $2.49 up, and if madam is not to be suited by any of these 1,500 hats and bonnets, the superior design and workmanshing bender the products of the firm's own workrooms are abundant evidence that she has but to indicate her preferences to have her special tastes completely gratified.
